We Uncover the Woman with the Secret Golden Touch behind Perth's hidden New Property Boom

When we think WA wealth—we all think of mining. When we think WA property in 2011—we all think slump. Now it's time for you to meet Sasha deBretton, the only person in WA right now reversing the property downturn with a Property Midas Touch.

Homeowners like you have been crippled with falling house prices in every pocket of Perth. During the worst Real Estate bust in recent history, things seem almost unfairly more affluent for a select few homeowners. You see Sasha deBretton's renovation and interior design company Million Dollar Makeovers have been busy creating an incredible Equity Boom for her clientele. Who would have thought 2011 would be the best year ever for some very smart homeowners and investors!

The trick used to be—'buy smart' and the old adage 'Location, Location, Location'. Well that's all changed now, to three new words—'Million Dollar Makeovers'. Perth's in-the-know elite property crowd all have one secret in common; that is a home or investment property that's undergone remodelling at the hands of award winning renovation and interior design company Million Dollar Makeovers.

What makes Sasha and her business so special? Let me spell out some of the highlights and I'm sure you will be stunned as I spill the beans to the Million Dollar Makeovers award winning formula.

Sasha deBretton has created a home renovation system that quite simply is immune to competition. Who else in the last few months, in the midst of property prices dropping even further, could transform an entire home in time warp speed of 4 weeks and add a $2 Million value to it? This is what they typically do and that's why Million Dollar Makeovers holds the prized title of Perth's #1 fastest quality renovators.

Bear in mind, while many long running building companies have sadly folded in these difficult times due to their lack of service or care for clients needs, a Million Dollar Makeovers client just wouldn't even consider doing business with anyone else. Sasha says, "It might sound crazy, but because we offer a true five star VIP renovation service, even in the huge metropolitan area of Perth, we have NO competition. I guess that's why we've clinched a shelf full of industry awards. It's kind of flattering but we even have a few dismal copycats, but like any knock-off perfume—you can smell them a mile away," she laughs.

Sasha says, "Here's the best part, you no longer need to accept your property being in the red. If you invest in your home with a full Million Dollar Makeovers renovation you'll feel like you've stumbled upon a recession-proof fortune, while at the same time you also get to live the lifestyle of your dreams, not in the future ... but right now."

With new clients practically begging to be the next transformation, it's little wonder Sasha and her team have themselves become the hottest property in Western Australia.

According to recent reports, testimonials to Million Dollar Makeovers in the last two years have come, not just in a legion of ecstatic clients but also in a plethora of awards. CEO Sasha deBretton became a very recent winning recipient for WA, of the prestigious Nokia Innovation Award for Telstra Business Women's Awards 2011.

It's worth remembering that if you want an unfair advantage or incentive to be ahead of others in the property game, you no longer need to be ultra cautious. Instead all you need to do is head to Million Dollar Makeovers Claremont showroom or give them a call. Like every other soon-to-be client that's rubbed the shoulders of good fortune with Sasha—you'll probably end up laughing all the way to the bank, with that new-found equity, in your newly remodelled lavish looking home.

Sasha deBretton CEO of Million Dollar Makeovers has good reason to laugh. As she is the only person holding the magic formula to property wealth in the current WA economic downturn.
